

Carrie Palm DVM, DACVIM (SAIM)

Dr. Carrie Palm earned her veterinary degree from UC Davis, and completed an internship and residency at the University of Pennsylvania. She is board certified in small animal internal medicine. Following a year in a specialty practice at Veterinary Medical and Surgical Group in Ventura, California, Dr. Palm completed a fellowship in hemodialysis and joined the faculty at UC Davis.

Dr. Palm is interested in all aspects of renal and urinary medicine, but her main focuses are acute kidney injury and ureteral obstructive disease, extracorporeal therapies (including hemodialysis, hemoperfusion and apheresis) and interventional endourology.